Instructions for Filing 1099s

The 1.44 release will resolve the following 1099 issues:

A. 1099s generated from the VRM application will adhere to the new 1099 format. The last page of the 1099 will apply an 'x' within the '1099-Misc' check box. Last year the format was changed resulting in an 'x' being applied to the incorrect check box.

B. An owner's 1099 amount will consist of the sum of the year to date Rental Income and the Other Credit amounts. The rental income and other credit amounts are displayed within the summary section of the owner statement. The Other credit amount consists of owner referral fees and transfers to the owners account.

C. Owner's containing multiple properties in different offices can now have 1099s generated for each specific office. If the VRM application is configured to utilize one 1099 configuration for all offices, the owner can have one 1099 generated for all properties regardless of the properties residing in different offices. If each office within the VRM application is configured with its' own independent 1099 configuration, an owner with multiple properties within different offices will have multiple office specific 1099s generated.

Please follow the 1099 filing instructions below. When printing the 1099s, the page scaling option needs to be set to 'None'. Printing the 1099s from the VRM application has been verified on three different printers. If after following these instructions the 1099 printouts are not aligning accurately, please contact your IT person. VRM has no way to determine the accurate printer settings required for all printer types.

When generating the 1099s if the accurate printer settings can not be determined, for a nominal fee VRM will generate your 1099s. Please send an email to help@vrmgr.com with your request.

Future Functionality

The request to have an owner's expenses separated into categories will be applied within a release scheduled for February 2008.

The management company's 1099 configuration can be setup for each office independently or one set of 1099 configuration values can be used for all of the offices residing within the VRM application.

The 1099 configuration used when generating 1099s is driven by the '1099 Setup for All Offices' check box on the 'Misc' tab of the Financial Configuration page.

If the '1099 Setup for All Offices' check box is NOT selected. Each office will need to be setup with an independent set of 1099 configuration values. Office specific 1099 configurations are applied on the 'Offices' tab of the Company Configuration page. If the end user wants to issue office specific 1099s, each office will need to be configured with its' own 1099 configuration. If owners contain properties residing in different offices and office specific 1099s are to be generated, please configure each office with independent 1099 configuration values.

Selecting the 'Populate Tax Year' button will result in the application displaying the 1099 data per the office and year options selected.

The entries are displayed in the order of:

- 1. Tax type (Individual or Business). Individual entries are displayed first.
- 2. By Office.
- 3. By Property Name.

At this time the end user needs to verify, edit, add, or delete the 1099s.

The following buttons will perform the following functions:

1. Edit. The edit button will allow the end user to edit the highlighted 1099 entry.

2. Delete. The delete button will delete the highlighted 1099 entry. If an entry is accidentally deleted the end user can return to the original '1099 Info' page and reload the 1099 data by selecting the same year option, office option , and the 'Populate Tax Year' button.

3. Flag. The flag button will mark the highlighted entry. Selecting the 'Flagged Entries' radial button will only display the 1099 entries which have been flagged.

4. Approve. The approve button is very important. When a 1099 entry is highlighted and the approve button selected, the end user is flagging the entry so it will not change if the 1099 data is reloaded. Selecting the 'Pending Approved' radial button will only display 1099 entries which have not been flagged as approved.

Every time the end user selects a year option, office option, and the 'Populate Tax Year' button, the application collects the original 1099 data. If the end user has edited 1099 entries, not flagged the entries as approved, closes the 1099 page, and than reloads the 1099 data, the edited entries will return back to their original amounts. When an entry is approved the entry will not change if the 1099 data is reloaded. Flagging entries as approved saves the changes made to the entry. If a new 1099 entry is manually applied, after the entry is added it needs to be fagged as approved.

All 1099 entries need to be flagged as Approved before moving to the next step.

6. Select the 'Back' button. By selecting the back button the end user will be returned to the original '1099 Info' page.

7. The end user can select the 'Print Summary' button to view a report which will consist of the 1099 entries' names, addresses, TIN/EIN,SOC numbers, and amounts. After reviewing the Print Summary report, if there is a discrepancy within one of the 1099 entries the end user can select the '1099 Info' button to be returned to the 1099 editing page.

The management company's 1099 configuration can be setup for each office independently or one set of 1099 configuration values can be used for all of the offices residing within the VRM application.

The 1099 configuration used when generating 1099s is driven by the '1099 Setup for All Offices' check box on the 'Misc' tab of the Financial Configuration page.

If the '1099 Setup for All Offices' check box is NOT selected. Each office will need to be setup with an independent set of 1099 configuration values. When the 1099 edit page is initially displayed the end user can select the following two buttons and can expect the following results:

- 1. Back. The back button will return the end user to the original '1099 Info' page.
- 2. Add. The end user has the ability to manually add a 1099 record.

Highlighting a 1099 entry will activate the Edit, Delete, Flag, and Approved buttons.

The following buttons will perform the following functions:

1. Edit. The edit button will allow the end user to edit the highlighted 1099 entry.

2. Delete. The delete button will delete the highlighted 1099 entry. If an entry is accidentally deleted the end user can return to the original '1099 Info' page and reload the 1099 data by selecting the same year option, office option , and the 'Populate Tax Year' button.

3. Flag. The flag button will mark the highlighted entry. Selecting the 'Flagged Entries' radial button will only display the 1099 entries which have been flagged.

4. Approve. The approve button is very important. When a 1099 entry is highlighted and the approve button selected, the end user is flagging the entry so it will not change if the 1099 data is reloaded. Selecting the 'Pending Approved' radial button will only display 1099 entries which have not been flagged as approved.

Every time the end user selects a year option, office option, and the 'Populate Tax Year' button, the application collects the original 1099 data. If the end user has edited 1099 entries, not flagged the entries as approved, closes the 1099 page, and than reloads the 1099 data, the edited entries will return back to their original amounts. When an entry is approved the entry will not change if the 1099 data is reloaded. Flagging entries as approved saves the changes made to the entry. If a new 1099 entry is manually applied, after the entry is added it needs to be fagged as approved.

All 1099 entries need to be flagged as Approved before moving to the next step.

6. Select the 'Back' button. By selecting the back button the end user will be returned to the original '1099 Info' page.
